ARPS' AVERMENTS

ON SEVERAL MATTERS OF CURRENT DISCUSSION.

He Does Not See the Good Taste of Some of Our Recent Gossiping—The Fall of Garfield House, Whose Grief is Shared by Its Voters—The Flood of Suicide.

Written for The Constitution.

The president is dead, and I reckon the nation had better do like King David when he lost his child—get up and wash her face and think of something else. It's all very bad and very sad, I know, but there are thousands of homes in this happy land where death was a visitor at the self same hour, and the grief was as great for the loved and lost. There is a skeleton in every closet, and death has nailed his sign over every door, and it has seemed to me from my own experience that when such a trouble came I wanted it all to myself and my family, and the less the fuss and parade and ceremony about it the better. There is a kind of sweet consolation for death in the household when we can shut it in and lock out the world, and have the misery, all to ourselves. Even the three friends of Job were considerate enough to set afar off in respectful silence for several days, "for they said his grief was great."

A nation in tears is a very grand and affecting tableau; if there is something grand and affecting to cry about, but there is no sense in overdoing the thing. I don't know what Mr. Garfield has done as a statesman, a soldier, or a patriot, more than ten thousand other men. I don't know what notable thing would justify us in saying as David did of Joab, a great man has fallen this day in Israel. Not many months ago I know he was denounced as a bad man and dangerous to the welfare of the country. I didn't believe it then, and I can't see the propriety of denouncing a man as a devil while he lives and adoring him as a saint when he is dead. I wish our people would quit the like of that. It destroys confidence and keeps up political strife and bitterness. I don't know much about Mr. Arthur, and I don't care if I don't, I'm not afraid of him. If he can do me any harm, I can't see it. If he is going to cut up and abuse us down south, we can abuse him just as bad. He can't run over congress much, nor defy the will of the nation which will be now for peace and harmony and cooperation. I believe Mr. Garfield was a better man and a greater man, but the death of one man, however great, can't stop the wheels of government from rolling on, nor bring a shock to its accustomed motion. A government that stood the test of four years war, and the assassination of Mr. Lincoln, (peace to his memory) and the election frauds of Mr. Hayes can stand anything and it doesn't matter at all whether Mr. Arthur was born in the United States or Canada or the Feejee Islands, it's all the same. The constitution is a sort of India-rubber thing anyhow, and can accommodate itself to circumstances so long as it keeps the Georgia that has tolerated two sessions in a year, and I reckon will have a third to redistrict the state. Let's wait and see what Mr. Arthur does before we pitch into him. If he is a good-hearted man he is a coward, and won't dare to defy us; so let him rip along. As Cobe says we will all know by waiting.

My wife and children are well, my corn is pretty good, my cattle are fat, and the barn is full of hay. My niggers are kind, and Sunday comes once a week as usual so let him rip. What is the matter with the people anyhow. Some folks are killing one another for little or nothing and some are killing themselves. When I was a boy I never, hardly ever, heard of a suicide. It was considered a most extraordinary circumstance. We read about it all over in France and wondered that there was such a people. It's an every day affair with us now. Four in a week. Four sane men well to do in the world, surrounded by good associates. I don't understand it and it worries me. I was talking with Judge Underwood about it, and says he, solemnly, "Bill—William—Mr. Arp, my friend, you have known me for thirty years, and I tell you now I have seen a sight of trouble and aggravation and vexation of spirit—losses and crosses and disappointments, but if you ever hear of my being found dead under peculiar circumstances, don't you stop to wonder or amuse to see whether I killed myself or not, but go at once and hunt for the fellow that done it. I tell you, William Arp, I'm not going to die that way." What is the matter with the men? There are no suicides among the women. Well, there is one now and then at long intervals and they are always drowned—drowned in a well or a mill pond. Nobody ever heard of one using a razor, or a pistol, or a rope. When a poor woman kills herself she wants to hide. Of course, she don't know how to use a razor, or a pistol, but she might hang herself. I reckon she is afraid somebody will see her in a disheveled condition. The records set down ten men to one woman as suicides, and so I reckon it must be on account of whisky or disappointed ambition in making money or amassing riches. Women are not concerned in such things. They are wrapt up in raising children, and they love 'em too good to leave 'em. Domestic pleasures have a tendency to calm the mind and keep it well balanced. Every day brings its care and trouble, but it brings its comforts and pleasures too. There is nothing like living for day; that's why I say and for the day. Blessings on the man or woman who gets up in the morning resolved to get as much happiness before night as possible. Enjoy the day. Be content. Don't be always lankering after something afar off that may never come. Don't deal too much in futures. I don't mean, of course, for a man to be like the average nigger who takes no thought for the morrow, but there is a middle ground to occupy. Some men say they are working for the boys' 'dren. They are straining themselves day and night for their children. Well, that is a lie. They are working to gratify their own ambition. If they thought as much about their children as they ought to they would pay em more attention. They would stay with em more and talk to em more.

Speaking of the indifference of the niggers reminds me of my good nigger Freeman. He has a lot of nigger tenants, and after being gone from home a few weeks, he came back and found every rascal of em gone off to meeting. When they returned says he: "What you been to meeting for, boys?" "Well, boss, we been dead to pray." "Pray for what?" said he. "Well, boss, we know it's most too late in de season to pray for rain, for de crop is dup gone up, but we been pray for de Savior to put us all thro' de winter." "Well, dat ain't no meetin' to fix for de next world. You white folks done got dis one, and if we can squeeze in ahead of you on de next world gwine to do it, dat's all." Nabor Freeman says it won't be a month before them darkies will be trying to make a savior of him, for he has carried 'em all the year while they were running over the country and going to preaching.

Calvin Lewis has quit his crop and taken to the pulpit—says he heard de Lord call him while he was in de field, and Uncle Jeff, says he: "Calvin, dat is a lie—if you hear anybody call you it was de devil, and you is sendin round de hat for him every night, and dese niggers round here is quit workin, and some of em is gwine to school dat ort to be in de cotton patch; and de next thing a school nigger do is to quit de country and go to town, and de next thing is to steal some-thing and get in de chain-gang, and go to work in de coal mines whar Governor Brown wants em. Dat's whate de matter, dese white folks knows exactly whar an educated nigger is gwine to land. I never knowed one to come to any good yet. You can't make sheep meat out of coon or chicken out of crow. I don't care what you feed 'em on. Uncle Jeff says dese young niggers will have to belong to somebody yet or quit de country. Well, de darkey is a conundrum and it's hard to guess him.

MAJOR WILKINSON.—One of the best members of the house is Major U. B. Wilkinson. He has been a faithful member, looking well to the interests not only of his own immediate constituents, but also for the whole state. The county of Coweta, another county, ever had any better representative. He has not missed a session since he was elected to the committee room during the session of the legislature.

TO NIAGARA FALLS.—The excursion that leaves this city to-morrow night, for Niagara Falls, is the best of the season. The round fare is only $18.25. This sum permits a passenger to visit the famous falls and Lake Ontario, and to see the Falls under the electric light. In order to do this, tickets should be taken for a trip over the Pennsylvania, New York and Erie road, that stretches from Cincinnati to the Erie road in New York state. Ask for tickets by that route.

AN ATLANTA ELECTION.—An election does not occur so often in the city of Atlanta as to fall to be the subject of special interest. Another is added to the list of minor elections. Last Wednesday night, at the residence of Mrs. Whiteley, in Douglasville, Rev. T. J. Johnson, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Rev. D. W. Gwin, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, were present. The young man and his bride reached Douglasville in the afternoon and that night were made happy in the union of their lives. Their friends in Atlanta wish them a long continuation of their present joy.

COMPLIMENT TO AN ATLANTA LADY.—A Richmond correspondent has given one of his letters to the Georgia papers, and is asking for further information concerning the interesting subject it touches. The lady is the daughter of a prominent physician in this city. The young man and his bride reached Douglasville in the afternoon and that night were made happy in the union of their lives. Their friends in Atlanta wish them a long continuation of their present joy.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Jackson, of Carroll, has succeeded in passing a resolution through the house asking the president to pardon parties only in distilling in Georgia. The resolution was backed by a large number of petitioners, and is one of the best men in the state.

MR. S. H. PHILAN, manager of the City and County of Atlanta, has just returned from New York, bringing with him the largest stock of goods which it has ever seen.

JOHN KELLY, "the leader of low prices," has just returned from New York, bringing with him the largest stock of goods which it has ever seen.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—To the Citizens of Atlanta: The undersigned committee, appointed at the meeting at DeWitt's opera-house, on Friday evening last, to co-operate with the executive committee of the International cotton exposition, would not earnestly request the citizens generally to meet at two o'clock on Thursday evening next at a public meeting, to be held at the residence of Mr. J. H. Smith, at 100 North Third street, to discuss the question of the cotton exposition, and to elect a committee to represent the citizens of Atlanta at the exposition.

Observing the Day.—Mayor's Office, Atlanta, September 24, 1881.—To the citizens of Atlanta: I call your attention to the announcement of a service to be held by the late President of the United States, James A. Garfield, in connection therewith on Monday next, the 26th instant, at 2 p. m. On the same day and about the same hour believe the remains of the eminent deceased will be interred at Cleveland, Ohio, and the people of the United States have been required by President Arthur to observe the day as one of humiliation and mourning. Therefore, and in accordance with the resolution of the general council, I earnestly request you to suspend your business and avocations of every kind during the hour that the memorial services of our late President are being held, and to assemble so far as possible, and join with them in these solemn exercises. The solemn observance of this sad occasion will be but a just tribute to our people to the eminent services and great worth of the noble man whose death we mourn.

JAMES W. ENGLISH, Mayor.

MASSON NOTICE.—September 25, 1881.—The members of Atlanta Lodge No. 30, F. & A. M., of Georgia lodge No. 30, F. & A. M., and of Fulton Lodge No. 216, F. & A. M., will meet at their hall on Monday, September 26th, at 1:30 p. m., for the purpose of joining in the public demonstration of respect to the late President of the United States, James A. Garfield, who died president of the United States. All Master Masons in good standing within our jurisdiction are cordially and earnestly requested to be present, and participate with us in paying the last debt to the memory of our deceased brother. Let there be a full attendance.

A Glance Through the Building, and a Survey of the Contents—The Wide Variety of Exhibits, and the Number of Exhibitors—The Display of Art Work.

Nothing better indicates the extent to which exhibits have been received than a list of the contents of the several annexes which the exposition has been compelled to build adjoining the main building. In that for the east wing, known as annex No. 3, will be furniture, carriages and buggies, paper and iron wheels, coffins and undertakers' supplies, pumps and roofing materials, farm wagons, chairs, pleasure boats, larger beer, agricultural implements, wheat flour, cotton goods, wire fencing, fanning-mills, saddlery and harness, fine art car trappings, asbestos goods and materials, wadded goods, patent horse collars, bicycles and tricycles, washboards and agricultural implements.

In the annex of the west wing will be engines and thrashing machines, plows and cultivators, hay and cotton presses, cotton harvesters or pickers, seed planters, portable grist mills, hay and grain macks, wind mills and machinery, traction engines and many others, both stationary and portable farm, and dump wagons, clod presses and levelers, ornamental iron work, brick and tile machines, harrows, cob crushers, toilet articles, perfume, and a large display of various articles made from zinc by a foreign mining and smelting company, located at Villed Montaigne, Chene, Belgium.

The exhibitors in the two annexes named, represent New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Georgia, Alabama, Illinois, Missouri, North Carolina, Wisconsin, Indiana, Maryland, Maine, Michigan, Connecticut, Mississippi, Louisiana, South Carolina, Tennessee, Delaware and New Jersey. From these twenty-one states there are in the annexes named one hundred and eighteen exhibitors, representing firms that employ in the aggregate nearly $5,000,000 of capital in their business. When it is remembered that the statistics here given represent only two fractions of the entire display, some idea of the magnitude of the whole may be gained from them.

Applications for space in the art hall are received daily. No allotments will be made in that department, but the arrangement of it, and the hanging of the pictures, will be entrusted to one thoroughly competent to make such disposition of all articles as to secure for each the location best adapted to bring out its excellence. It requires an artistic eye and great experience to arrange displays of this class in a manner satisfactory alike to exhibitors and spectators. Among other pictures offered for the art pavilion is a full length portrait of Henry Clay, painted in 1850, which is now in possession of a Baltimore gentleman, who also kindly offers to loan bust portraits of Lewis Cass and Thomas H. Benton.

One exhibit promised for this department is the handiwork of an Alabama lady, which will be likely to attract considerable attention. It is a needle case. The needle, therefore, in the natural covering, has a fleece of eighty thousand fine white feathers, while the body is filled out with cotton. Of it the lady writes that she considers it an appropriate exhibit for the fair, as it is the work of the Alabama people, and it is the product of that state, while the staple with which the body is filled is also the product of that state. The needle, therefore, is emblematic in a double sense. The director general assured the lady that her little gift should have a good place in the art pavilion, and complimented her on the patience and industry she had displayed. A great display of art work that would have gone into the pavilion has been taken by the citizens' committee of Florida to add to the attractiveness of the exhibition from that state. The citizens who have charge of the Florida display have decided to erect a large building here, which will be framed at home and put on the cars all ready to be joined together as soon as the materials arrive at the park. It will be rather a difficult question to answer, whether visitors step out of the Florida building, and ask any Georgian their chance to meet "where is your state's building?" Georgians are usually ready with an answer, but when they encounter this question, they will many thousands of times, what shall be said in reply?

JOHN KEELY'S GREAT SPECIALTIES

FOR THE COTTON EXPOSITION SEASON.

Realizing the fact that with the great influx of visitors which the Exposition assures, will come a greatly increased demand for the leading classes of goods pertaining to the Dry Goods trade, the writer has made extraordinary preparations to supply the same; and having been fortunate enough to secure several large lots of goods at extraordinary low prices, it is his determination to flood the State of Georgia with the Greatest Bargains ever offered in that line.

Twenty thousand dollars worth of Cloaks! The Largest Stock of Cloaks, Jackets and Ulsters south of Philadelphia! I have Cloaks for $1.25 each! I have Cloaks at $50 each! I have Cloaks at every intermediate price!

NOT ONE OF THEM WAS PURCHASED IN THE REGULAR WAY! One lot was obtained from an Importer who, having goods in the Custom House, was compelled to sacrifice some in order to raise money to pay duties on the balance. Other lots, bought first in one way, then in another, but all at a sacrifice, constitute at once the largest and cheapest lot of Cloaks ever offered in Georgia.

I can sell you a $2.50 Cloak for $2, and then make a good profit! I can sell you a $5 Cloak for $3.50, and then make all the profit I want! An $8 Cloak for $5! A $10 Cloak for $6, and so on to the end of the list! A $15 Cloak for 10, etc., etc.

Justice to yourself, Reader, demands that you investigate this superb line of Goods after you have seen Cloaks elsewhere, but invariably BEFORE YOU BUY! You will be delighted by doing so! You will be suited by doing so! You will save money by doing so! I have both Jet and Blue Black Cashmeres, and customers can have either by asking for which they prefer. I recommend the Blue Black for beauty and durability.

1,200 Ladies' English Walking Jackets, half price! Everybody remembers the Bargains I sold last fall in Jackets. The Bargains I now offer in them eclipse everything previously shown! 32 pieces Black all wool Cashmeres, 40 cents yard, sold last fall at 50 cents. 29 pieces Black all wool Cashmeres, 40 cents yard, sold last fall at 50 cents. 43 pieces of the best 75 cents Black all wool Cashmeres in America! Particular attention is called to this grade of goods. 60 pieces fine grade Black Cashmeres, proportionately cheap! Everything made almost in colored Cashmeres found in this highly attractive stock. I will guarantee to beat ANYBODY'S sample of Black Cashmeres, no matter whether New York!

700 Ladies' Cloth Ulsters, in all styles, fine goods, half price!

BLACK CASHMERES!

Having concluded highly satisfactory arrangements with an importer of Black Cashmeres, I now offer to the public the most complete line of this desirable class of goods to be found in Georgia. I am responsible for the color of every piece of Black Cashmeres which I sell, and I will be sold over my counters this season, which means that if a piece should prove to be a bad color, to its brilliancy, etc., I WILL REPLACE IT WITH A NEW DRESS.

I have often been laughed at by competitors for offering such guarantees, but I never do so except the case justifies it, and I NEVER FAIL TO RESPOND WHEN CALLED ON TO MAKE IT GOOD.

I have both Jet and Blue Black Cashmeres, and customers can have either by asking for which they prefer. I recommend the Blue Black for beauty and durability.

30 pieces Black all wool Cashmeres, 35 cents yard, sold last fall at 50 cents. 25 pieces Black all wool Cashmeres, 40 cents yard, sold last fall at 50 cents. 29 pieces Black all wool Cashmeres, 40 cents yard, sold last fall at 50 cents. 43 pieces of the best 75 cents Black all wool Cashmeres in America! Particular attention is called to this grade of goods. 60 pieces fine grade Black Cashmeres, proportionately cheap! Everything made almost in colored Cashmeres found in this highly attractive stock. I will guarantee to beat ANYBODY'S sample of Black Cashmeres, no matter whether New York!

In this department I have three times as large a stock as ever before. Hardly anything can be asked for which I cannot show! 150 pieces Black and colored silks, embracing everything possibly needed. 50 pieces Black and colored Velvets, all prices, all shades, etc. Black Dress Silks 30 cents, 35 cents, 40 cents, 45 cents, 50 cents, 55 cents, 60 cents, 65 cents, 70 cents, 75 cents, 80 cents, 85 cents, 90 cents, 95 cents, 1.00, 1.10, 1.20, 1.30, 1.40, 1.50, 1.60, 1.70,
